Joan Blondell Poorer but Wiser

IF JOAN Blondell hadn't been "a compulsive giver-away of money," she probably wouldn't be guest starring Sunday in "The Pressure Game" on NBC-TV's Bonanza [8-9 p. m., channel 5].

Instead, this wide-eyed, still curvaceous blonde would be retired or out looking for a husband, or both.

Miss Blondell, it seems, has been a money-maker almost from birth. She's been in show business since she was added to her father's vaudeville act at the age of three. Her movie career, which includes some of the industry's most successful pictures, dates back to 1929.

"My problem was not getting the cash, but keeping it," she said. "I was a compulsive giver-away of money." On Broadway she had a kind of backstage fame as a soft touch.

THE MONEY Miss Blondell saves she gets by working "on an average of once a month."

Her Bonanza role, as a would-be matchmaker for one of the young Cartwrights, she describes as "dishy" in comparison to "the old hags and witches I'd been playing. It was nice on Bonanza. The cameraman tried to make me look pretty."

Miss Blondell has no doubts about what she would do if she didn't have to work: "I'd put on some kind eyelashes and bat my eyes a lot and find myself a husband. I'm lonesome."

All Star Laughs

By Bill Irvin

Bob Hope: "David Jansen, The Fugitive of TV, is the only man who has been running longer than I have."

Comedian Nipsey Russell tells about the newlywed husband who came home from work to find his bride in tears because she had spoiled the dinner.

"That's understandable," said the hubby consolingly. "It's your first try. What I can't understand is how you managed to burn the salad."

Steve Allen will display an electronic machine on his show which paints to music. Steve describes the colors used as "pink, mustard and Sheeky Green."

Allen again, commenting on a "wax" sculpture of himself said "It's a pretty good likeness, tho it looks a bit like Cochise, or his brother-in-law, Grilled Cheese."

Johnny Carson: "President Johnson was supposed to be on our show last night but we had a sponsor conflict between our NBC peacock and Lady Bird."

Alan King:
"Eve fed
Adam an apple—and man has been fed up ever since."

 "A good provider is an idiot with a check book."

"Marriage is a partnership until you get married. Then she goes into business for herself."

Clark Weber of WLS says that stealing a kiss can lead to marriage, the perfect example of crime and punishment.

Lois Parlays 2c into Emmy Nomination

By Bill Irvin

LOIS BROOKS' story began in Brooklyn, N. Y., in 1926 [the year of her birth]. And as an only child, she began putting her 2 cents worth into family life at an early age.

However, there is absolutely no connection between that and the 2 cents worth she and Al Binford are contributing to the schedule of WTTW [channel 11].

The TV contribution was conceived by Lois and Al [they're co-producers] to give teen-agers a forum for speaking their piece. And the pair has done such a good job getting the kids to air their gripes, opinions, etcetera, during the 9 weeks Our 2c Worth has been aired that it has been nominated for an Emmy award by the Chicago chapter of the National Academy of Television Arts and Sciences.

"TO receive this kind of accolade and encouragement from the Academy is more than we ever dared to hope for," says Lois.

She met Al Binford while working at WTTW on the series, Den Mothers' Workshop, in which she was the Den Mother, and Binford was the interviewer. The 5-week series was so well received it will be back in the fall for 10 weeks.

She and Al started discussing the possibility of a show for teen-agers. Result: Our 2c Worth! And a quick Emmy nomination.

'Why Me? Why Always Me?'

"WHY ME? Why always me?"

This plaintive cry, the trademark of Captain Wai-lace Binghamton on ABC-TV's McHale's Navy, is echoed in real life by the creator of the role, Joe Flynn.

"The show's writers are a lawless breed, in general, but they do have their code," he declares. "It's very simple: drown Binghamton."

"I've been deep-sixed clutching a bottle of champagne, a camera, even a pair of nylons.

"Only one thing seems to be the same each time—the weather. Always cold and windy."

JOE SAYS that his dunkings have become a family affair. "My wife reads the scripts before I do. For one reason—to see if I hit the water. Then she checks the medicine cabinet. And I hear her muttering things like 'What a job for a grown man.'"

Joe's tragic plight elicits no sympathy from Tony, his five year-old son. "Every time he sees me take a header on the show, he complains about it. 'Dad, you always get to go swimming. Why don't WE have a pool?'"

DEAR ANSWER MAN

MARY TYLER Moore, who is so wonderful on the Dick Van Dyke show, has appeared with Danny Kaye several times this season and I was surprised to discover that she sings and dances as well as she does. Now my neighbor claims Miss Moore doesn't do her own singing on the show. Is this so?—Mrs. Joan W., Brookfield, Ill.

Miss Moore has appeared on the Danny Kaye show three times this season and each time has sung and danced. She is what is known as a "triple threat" in show business circles . . . she can act, sing and dance. And you can see her do all three Sunday on the Ed Sullivan show.

* *

When will the law catch up with Richard Kimble on The Fugitive? I hope he can clear himself this season and go back to his medical practice next year. I love this series; it has suspense and excitement every week—Kathy M., Chicago.

Make up your mind. A series about a small town physician won't have half the suspense and excitement The Fugitive has. Rest assured that Kimble will remain a "fugitive" for a few more seasons.

* *

What on earth is wrong with the writers and producers of the Andy Griffith show to allow a boring character like Gomer on the program. He only slows up the show's pace. I love Barney and Andy, but they sure don't need that unfunny Gomer around—Mrs. Ellen D., Fox River Grove, Ill.

Gomer will be gone from the Andy Griffith show next season, but not for the reasons you cited. Jim Nabors, who plays Gomer, will have his own series on the CBS-TV network next season. Evidently most fans do not share your opinion about the slow moving, drawing gas station attendant on the Griffith series.

* *

Where can I write to Steve McQueen? Is he going to have another TV series soon? I sure hope so. He was great as Bounty Hunter, Josh Randall. Is he making any new movies?—Mary Ann G., Chicago.

McQueen's movie career is in full swing these days and he has no immediate plans to reënter TV with a weekly series. His fans will have to contend themselves with reruns of Wanted: Dead or Alive. His current film release is "Love with the Proper Stranger," and he has "Traveling Lady" and "A Thousand Clowns" coming up. You may write McQueen c/o Paramount Studios, Marathon st., Hollywood, Cal.

* *

I think Donna Reed is the best looking and the most charming actress on TV. My whole family loves her show. I have been trying to remember the title of the movie she made some years ago in which she played Elizabeth Taylor's sister, as I don't want to miss it when it is shown on television — Mrs. Ann C., Chicago.

Miss Reed co-starred with Miss Taylor and Van Johnson in the 1954 film, "The Last Time I Saw Paris," which is available on TV.

* *

While watching the movie "Pride of St. Louis" on TV recently, with Dan Dailey playing Dizzy Dean, I thought that an announcer in one of the scenes looked a great deal like Chet Huntley. Was it really Huntley, or just someone who resembles him?—Mrs. Jean R., Cicero, Ill.

It was Chet Huntley. And you're not the only one who spotted NBC's ace newsman in the bit part. The Answer Man received similar queries from many sharp-eyed fans.

* *

Some time ago I saw the movie "Snows of Killmanjaro" on TV, but had to leave before the end, and ever since I have been wondering which girl got Gregory Peck. Was it Ava Gardner or Deborah Kerr?—John L., Chicago.

It sure wasn't Deborah Kerr, because she wasn't even in the movie. Ava Gardner played a few love scenes with Peck, but it was Susan Hayward who shared the fade-out with him.

* *

What is Robert Taylor doing these days? I used to enjoy his The Detectives series very much, and I miss not seeing him on TV. Doesn't he ever appear as a guest on any of the other TV series?—Mrs. Grace W., Aurora, Ill.

Taylor is currently reacting his film career in a starring role opposite Shelley Winters in "A House Is Not a Home."
